(WESTBORN ROAD, FAREHAM) ORDER 2026

Statement of Reasons

Hampshire County Council is working with Southern Water to help it improve the operational efficiency of its combined sewer systems through the delivery of Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems (SuDS) solutions across Hampshire's highway network. The systems will better manage surface water run-off in the highway and support Southern Water's environmental and legal obligations to reduce untreated wastewater entering local rivers and the sea. Combined sewers in the UK carry both household wastewater and rainwater in the same pipes, in systems that were largely built during the Victorian era. During heavy rain, these systems can be quickly become overloaded, forcing water companies to release diluted wastewater via combined sewer overflows (CSOs) into rivers and the sea to prevent flooding. Southern Water holds responsibility for managing wastewater across the majority of Hampshire and it has a legal requirement to reduce CSO releases.

The proposed SuDS features will include a series of kerbed buildouts within the carriageway, with a significant below ground component for the attenuation and storage of surface water. The features will store surface water runoff close to source and limit the discharge rate into the sewer system. The size and placement of the buildouts have been carefully selected to ensure that they do not restrict access to side roads or nearby properties, and that they do not present hazards in terms of road user safety. As a result of the introduction of these build-out features within the street, some localised changes to on-street parking and associated restrictions are required, to prevent parking alongside and close to the features that would obstruct traffic flow.
